LONDON, March 20.

Yesterday Sir Watkin Lewes, one of the present Sheriffs, with the City Remembrancer, attended at St. James's to know his Majesty's pleasure when he would receive the Address, Remonstrance, and Petition from the City of London, when his Majesty was pleased to appoint this day se'nnight at two o'clock at St. James's.

The following is said to be an exact Copy of the City's Remonstrance, agreed upon in Common Hall, March 17, 1773, as it was delivered to his Majesty's Secretary of State, that a proper answer might be prepared against the day when the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, &c. are to present it in form to his Majesty:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address, Petition, and Remonstrance of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in Common-Hall assembled.

"Most Gracious Sovereign,

"WE your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, beg leave to approach the Throne with the respect becoming a free people zealously attached to the Laws and Constitution of their country, and the Parliamentary Right of your Majesty to the Crown of these Realms.

We desire with all humility, in the grief and anguish of our hearts, to submit to your Majesty, that the many grievances and injuries we have suffered from your Ministers, still remain unredressed; nor has the public justice of the kingdom received the least satisfaction for the frequent atrocious violations of the laws, which have been committed in your reign by your Ministers, with a daring contempt of every principle, human and divine. Your people have, with the deepest concern, observed, that their former humble petitions and Remonstrances were received with a neglect and disregard, very hardly brooked by the high spirits of a great and powerful nation; but the hopes of redress still encouraging us to persevere, we again supplicate your Majesty to listen to the voice of your aggrieved Subjects, in vindication of your own and the Nation's honor, against your despotic and corrupt Ministers, who have perverted the fountains of public justice, and undermined the foundations of our excellent Constitution. Our Representatives, who were chosen to be the Guardians of our Rights, have invaded our most sacred Privileges. The right of being represented in Parliament is the inherent, unalienable privilege, as well as peculiar glory of the freeborn inhabitants of this country; and a person qualified according to law, a Magistrate of this City, was duly elected a Knight of the Shire for the County of Middlesex, by a great majority of legal votes, yet has been excluded from the House of Commons, by a Resolution of that House; and a Candidate, who had only a few votes, declared the Representative of the Electors of the said County, against their consent.—Through the like corrupt influence of the same Ministers, the Chief Magistrate, and one of the Aldermen of this City, were imprisoned for not obeying the illegal Mandates of an arbitrary House of Commons, and violating the solemn oaths they had taken for the preservation of the Liberties and Franchises of the Capital of your Majesty's dominions. We recall to your Majesty's remembrance, with horror, that unparalleled act of tyranny, the erazing a judicial Record, in order to stop the course of justice, to introduce a system of Power against Right, and to tear up by the roots Truth and Law from the earth. vid pa. 471, Vol. 3.

We therefore, your Remonstrants, again supplicate your Majesty to employ the only remedy now left by the Constitution, the exercise of that salutary Power with which you are entrusted by law, the dissolving of the present Parliament, and the removal of those evil Counsellors who advised the measures so generally odious to the Nation, and your Majesty, as the true Guardian of our Rights, shall ever reign in the hearts of a grateful people." (b)

Several of Mr. Alderman Wilkes's Friends waited upon him the 13th instant, and pressed his going to St. James's with the other Aldermen to present the late Address, Petition and Remonstrance to the King. Mr. Wilkes's Answer is said to have been nearly in these Words:

Gentlemen,

"YOU well know the support I gave on Thursday to the Motions in Common Hall for the Remonstrance, and the engagement for shortening the duration of Parliaments. I now feel a real pain in declining to comply with the solicitations of such respectable Friends. As I have long been personally obnoxious to the King, I have not for many years been to St. James's. It would now be rude and indecent to force myself into the Royal presence on an occasion not the most pleasing, I believe, to his Majesty. I am not used to go into any Gentleman's house who does not wish to see me. The last year, as Sheriff, it would have been the particular duty of my Office to have attended the King with any Petitions or Remonstrances, and I should have obeyed the commands of the City. I am now to be considered only as an Alderman. The attendance of the whole Body is not necessary. No favourable effect could possibly arise from my being with you at St. James's; and if the least disturbance should happen without, it would be construed to be a premeditated riot, the Guards immediately be ordered to fire among the People, and another Massacre ensue. (c)

"I am not fond of the air of a Court: It generally blasts sooner or later, and often nips even in the bud, our modern Patriotism. I should be particularly unhappy at this time to see my Sovereign surrounded almost entirely by the Enemies of our Country and his Family, and the Royal smiles beaming on those very Ministers, against whom the City of London now petition and remonstrate with so much truth and justice, while my Fellow Citizens were received with coldness and disregard. My warmest wishes, however, Gentlemen, will go with you, and may you meet with that gracious reception and success which your Cause and your Zeal so nobly merit."

March 22. We are told that the Answer prepared to be given on a certain occasion is big with reproof for giving so much trouble, and is said to be levelled at some particular Leaders in the City, who are to be called Troublers of their Sovereign's and his People's repose.

We hear for certain, that the King of Prussia is determined very shortly to take possession of Hanover.

A new fashion is come up among the fine gentlemen at the West end of the town, which is, to use red powder in their hair; and a certain young officer of the guards, was so fashionably brick dusted at a late assembly, that with respect to his head, he seemed to have been a savage just escaped from the wilds of America.

Lord Bellamount is so well recovered as to walk in his room, has a good appetite, and will be able, it is thought, to take an airing in a few days.

Samples of several mineral ores have been lately received here from North America, said to be the produce of some mines lately discovered, which are expected to prove acquisitions of infinite value.

The Dove, Brown, from Bristol to Boston, is arrived at Kinsale, with the loss of her masts, and seven feet water in her hold; the Mate was washed ove board. —His Name was Bacon, and belonged to Boston, in New England, where he left a Wife and two Children.

BOSTON.

By Letters from London, we learn, that the Pamphlet, containing the Votes and Proceedings of the Town of Boston in November last, had been reprinted there with a judicious Preface by the British Editor, and was well received by all the lovers of Liberty; though, it is said, Lord D——h has expressed it as his Opinion, "that the Resolves of the Towns of Roxbury, Marblehead and Plimouth, (in consequence of the Proceedings of this Town) contain very extraordinary Doctrines, but hopes there will be but few followers of their Example; and that the Honourable House of Representatives would discountenance them:"—In which, however, upon receipt of further Accounts from hence, his Lordship will be very much disappointed.——

The British Editor's Preface is as follows.

ALL Accounts of the Discontent so general in our Colonies, have of late Years been industriously smothered, and concealed here; it seeming to suit the Views of the American Minister to have it understood, that by his great Abilities all Faction was subdued, all Opposition suppressed, and the whole Country quieted.—That the true State of Affairs there may be known, and the true Causes of that Discontent well understood, the following Piece (not the Production of a Private Writer) but the unanimous Act of a large American City) lately printed in New-England, is republished here. This Nation, and the other Nations of Europe, may thereby learn with more Certainty the Grounds of a Dissension, that possibly may, sooner or later, have Consequences interesting to them all.

The Colonies had, from their first Settlement, been governed with more Ease, than perhaps can be equalled by any Instance in History, of Dominions so distant. Their Affection and Respect for this Country, while they were treated with Kindness, produced an almost implicit Obedience to the Instructions of the Prince, and even to Acts of the British Parliament, though the Right of binding them by a Legislature in which they were unrepresented, was never clearly understood. That Respect and Affection produced a Partiality in favour of every thing that was English; whence their preference of English Modes and Manufactures; their Submission to Restraints on the Importation of Foreign Goods, which they had but little Desire to use; and the Monopoly we so long enjoyed of their Commerce, to the great enriching of our Merchants and Artificers. The mistaken Policy of the Stamp-Act first disturbed this happy Situation; but the Flame thereby raised was soon extinguished by its Repeal, and the old Harmony restored, with all its concomitant Advantages to our Commerce. The subsequent Act of another Administration, which, not content with an established Exclusion of Foreign Manufactures, began to make our own Merchandize dearer to the Consumers there by heavy Duties, revived it again: And Combinations were entered into throughout the Continent, to stop Trade with Britain till those Duties should be repealed. All were accordingly repealed but One, the Duty on Tea. This was retained professedly as a standing Claim and Exercise of the Right claimed by Parliament of laying such Duties. The Colonies, on this Repeal, retracted their Agreement so far as related to all other Goods except that on which the Duty was retained. This was trumpeted over by the Minister for the Colonies as a Triumph; there it was considered only as a decent and equitable Measure, shewing a Willingness to meet the Mother Country in every Advance towards a Reconciliation. And the Disposition to a good Understanding was so prevalent, that possibly they might soon have relaxed in the Article of Tea also. But the System of Commissioners of Customs, Officers without end, with Fleets and Armies for collecting and enforcing those Duties, being continued, these acting with much Indiscretion and Rashness, giving great and unnecessary Trouble and Obstruction to Business, commencing unjust and vexatious Suits, and harrassing Commerce in all its Branches, while that Minister kept the People in a constant State of Irritation by Instructions which appeared to have no other End than the gratifying his private Resentments, occasioned a persevering Adherence to their Resolution in that Particular: And the Event should be a Lesson to Ministers, not to risque, through Pique, the obstructing any one Branch of Trade, since the Course and Connection of General Business may be thereby disturbed to a Degree impossible to be foreseen or imagined. For it appears, that the Colonies, finding their Humble Petitions to have this Duty repealed, were rejected and treated with undeserved Contempt, and that the Produce of the Duty was applied to the rewarding with undeserved Salaries and Pensions every one of their Enemies, the Duty itself became more odious, and their Resolution to starve it more vigorous and obstinate. The Dutch, Danes and French, took the Advantage thus offered them by our Imprudence, and began to smuggle their Teas into the Plantations. At first this was somewhat difficult; but at length, as all Business improves by Practice, it became easy. A Coast, 1500 Miles in length, could not in all Parts be guarded even by the whole Navy of England, especially where the restraining Authority was by all the Inhabitants deemed unconstitutional, and Smuggling of course considered as Patriotism. The needy Wretches too, who with small Salaries were trusted to watch the Ports Day and Night in all Weathers, found it easier and more profitable, not only to wink, but to sleep in their Beds, the Merchant's Pay being more generous than the King's. Other India Goods also, which by themselves would not have made a Smuggling Voyage sufficiently profitable, accompanied Tea to Advantage; and it is feared the cheap French Silks, formerly rejected as not to the Taste of the Colonists, may have found their way with the Wares of India, and now established themselves in the popular Use and Opinion. It is supposed that at least a Million of Americans drink Tea twice a Day, which, at the first Cost here, can scarce be reckoned at less than Half a Guinea a Head per Annum. This Market, that in the five Years which have run on since the Act passed, would have paid 2,500,000 Guineas, for Tea alone, into the Coffers of the Company, we have lost to Foreigners. Meanwhile it is said the Duties have so diminished, that the whole Remittance of the last Year amounted to no more than the pitiful Sum of 85 Pounds, for the Expence of some Hundred Thousands in Armed Ships and Soldiers to support the Officers. Hence the Tea and other India Goods that might have been sold in America, remain rotting in the Company's Warehouses, while those of Foreign Ports are known to be cleared by the American Demand. Hence in some Degree the Company's Inability to pay their Bills; the sinking of their Stock, by which Millions of Property have been annihilated; the lowering of their Dividend, whereby so many must be distressed; the Loss to Government of the stipulated 400,000 Pounds a Year, which must make a proportionable Reduction in our Savings towards the Discharge of our enormous Debt; and hence in part the severe Blow suffered by Credit in general, to the Ruin of many Families; the Stagnation of Business in Spital-Fields and Manchester, through want of Vent for their Goods, with other future Evils, which, as they cannot, from the numerous and secret Connections in General Commerce, easily be foreseen, can hardly be avoided.

* Some of his circular Letters had been criticised and exposed by one or two of the American Assemblies.

A Well Wisher to Trade and Justice, and several other Pieces upon different Subjects, must be deferred for want of Room.

LONDON, March 22.

THE Earl of Chesterfield is so dangerously ill that his Life is despaired of.

It is rumoured about Town, that Adm. Montague, and the other Commissioners, who went with him on the Expedition to Rhode-Island, had been tarr'd and feathered there, and were returned over Land to Boston in a very woeful Condition. (7)

March 23. It is said three Gentlemen of the first Character in Boston (of whom the famous Mr. Otis is one) are deputed by the General Assembly of that Province to come to England, in order to deliver a Petition and Remonstrance into his Majesty's own Hand:—That they are also instructed to supplicate a personal hearing of his Majesty, upon the subject of American Grievances, that the People of that Colony may have certain knowledge their Prayers have reached the Royal Ear, and that they may, once for all, know what they have to depend upon: And it is supposed all the other Provinces will follow the Example of that of Massachusett's-Bay.

It is now said the Hon. John Robinson, Esq; of Boston in New-England, is to be appointed a Commissioner of Excise, in Ireland, in the room of Sir Francis Bernard, who is to be promoted to a Vice Treasurership in that kingdom; and that Richmond Reeves, Esq; nephew to Mr Cooper, and Secretary to the Commissioners at Boston, is to be advanced to a Seat at that Board, in the room of the said Robinson.

——— Irvine, Esq; of the Custom-House in Boston (and brother to the ingenious Dr. Irvine, who turns saltwater into fresh) is talked of as likely to succeed Mr. Reeves as Secretary to the Commissioners.

Lord Bellamont is so far recovered of his wound as to take an airing in Hyde Park last Monday.

BOSTON, May 3. 1773.

We hear that Thomas Oliver, Esq; of Cambridge, is appointed Judge of the Provincial Courts of Vice Admiralty for this Province and New-Hampshire.

We also hear, that his Majesty has been pleased to grant as a Salary to Daniel Horsmanden, Esq; Chief Justice of the Province of New York, the Sum of Five Hundred Pounds Sterling per Annum.

By Capt. Coulson, in a short Passage from Bristol, we have Advice of the arrival of Capt. Lyde from this Place, who was thought to be a missing Ship.

Capt. Coulson on his Passage took up the Crew of a French Ship which had foundered, and brought them in with him.

We hear from Dedham, that 335 Persons have lately had the Measles, in the Rev. Mr. Haven's Parish, and not one has died; but all are recovered to a good Measure of Health again. Some of almost every Age, between 60 Years and one Month, have had the Distemper.

Last Friday Afternoon arrived the Tartar Frigate from Halifax.

And Yesterday arrived the Gaspee Brig from the same Place, being a Vessel lately Commission'd in the Room of one of the same Name said to have been burnt at Providence some Time since.

On Saturday sailed from below for Halifax, where they have for some time remained Windbound, his Majesty's Ship Captain, with several other Men of War; also Capt. Symmes for London, and a Number of Trading Vessels for different Ports.

We have now, only his Majesty's Ships Fowey, Swan, Tartar, Gaspee and Halifax armed Vessels in this Harbour, to protect us from——ourselves.

And, if a Paragraph in the Newport Mercury of last Monday be true, which says, "that Orders are arrived by the Packet for a number of Men of War on this Station to return immediately to England;" together with the Report of another Expedition to Newport (after the Capital Ships lately gone for Halifax are cleaned and fitted for Fighting) we may possibly be left still more destitute of Naval Protection; which however, we imagine, will not be much lamented by our Seafaring Brethren, who are as much harrassed in coming in from Sea (by Press-Boats) as they were when the British Nation were at open War with their natural Enemies.

The Cruiser Sloop of War, Capt. Howe, is arrived at Newport from this Port.

The Captains Shand and Rogers are arrived at the same Place from London.

We learn from Port au Prince, on Hispaniola, that a great many counterfeit Pistoles had been brought into that Island and circulated there, by some Traders from America; that one of the Offenders belonging to Rhode-Island had been convicted at Cape Francois and set in the Pillory for it; and that the French Inhabitants in general were so exasperated on account of this base Traffick, that an Englishman could scarce pass the Streets without being insulted.

By a Letter from St. Vincent's, of the sixth of March, we are informed that Orders had been issued by Brigadier Dalrymple, for the 14th Regiment to embark on the 16th, and to sail on the 23th, to relieve the 29th Battalion in Garrison at St. Augustine. The 31st Regiment was ordered to embark for New-York on the 25th.

We hear that Capt. Calef, in the Ship London, sails for London next Wednesday, in whom go Passengers Mr. Nathaniel Wheatley, Merchant, and Phillis Wheatley, the ingenious Negro Poet.

Medfield, April 26. 1773.

Last Friday Evening we had very sharp Lightning, it struck our Powder-house, which is situate upon a Rock that is a little elevated above the adjacent Ground. The House is built with a Square Roof with a piece of Timber, which the Spars center in at the Top, and rises a little above the End of the Spars. The Lightning split that piece, and ran down upon one of the Spars to a Post at the North Corner, which was split to Pieces, and some Boards burst off the House; it went down another Spar on the South Side, to the Stud in which were placed the Iron-hooks on which the Door was hung; this was also split and the Door burst open: It entered the Rock both on the North and South Side, and shivered it considerably, leaving the appearance on the Pieces, as if Stones blown with Gun-Powder. The Powder was within about a Foot of the Post on the North Corner on which the Lightning went down, but received no Damage.
